SCARLET FEATHER

Pete,
It was rather nice having you in study all this year although sometimes I wish you'd have shot yourself. Take it easy on the girls this summer.
Love, Pat

Sorry Pete
Didn't have a picture
but here's a
Good Luck

Hi Pete,
Good d'ie
so much to say
I could take up this whole page -- but I won't.
You sure are loads of fun and I have had my share of th this year. I hope we're in just as many classes together as we were this year.
You always make a class merrier.
When I was crazy over Ruby you always helped me so my thanks go to you now
Pete -- Thanks loads Pete.
Love ya
Pat

Peter, the old chain with you
Have the best summer ever
Been seeing much Betty? Hope
Take many more Coke trips
Now those two Chicks
Keep in touch,
Yours, (Q Keys)

How! Me We-yak-a. Indian name mean feather, but spelling say me talk too much! Me take-um you on tour of school wigwam; show-um you how wigwam ruled in governmental matters. Present-um you to graduating braves and squaws who are versed for future battle. Me let you peek-um at lower tepees where papooses reign. Also show-um great scores in accomplished sporting feats by bold warriors. Must not forget tribal organizations, nor to respectfully gaze-um at administrative chiefs. Follow me as We-yak-a the school year together.

Student Government

Student Council

Attempting to have Central High School accept the Governor's Teenage Code was one venture of the 1957-58 Senior Student Council. Also on their agenda was attending the Student Council convention in Mankato and sending two delegates to the state convention. Later on, the election of the Student Council president for the following year and the traditional Winger's Whirl took place.

Ethics Committee

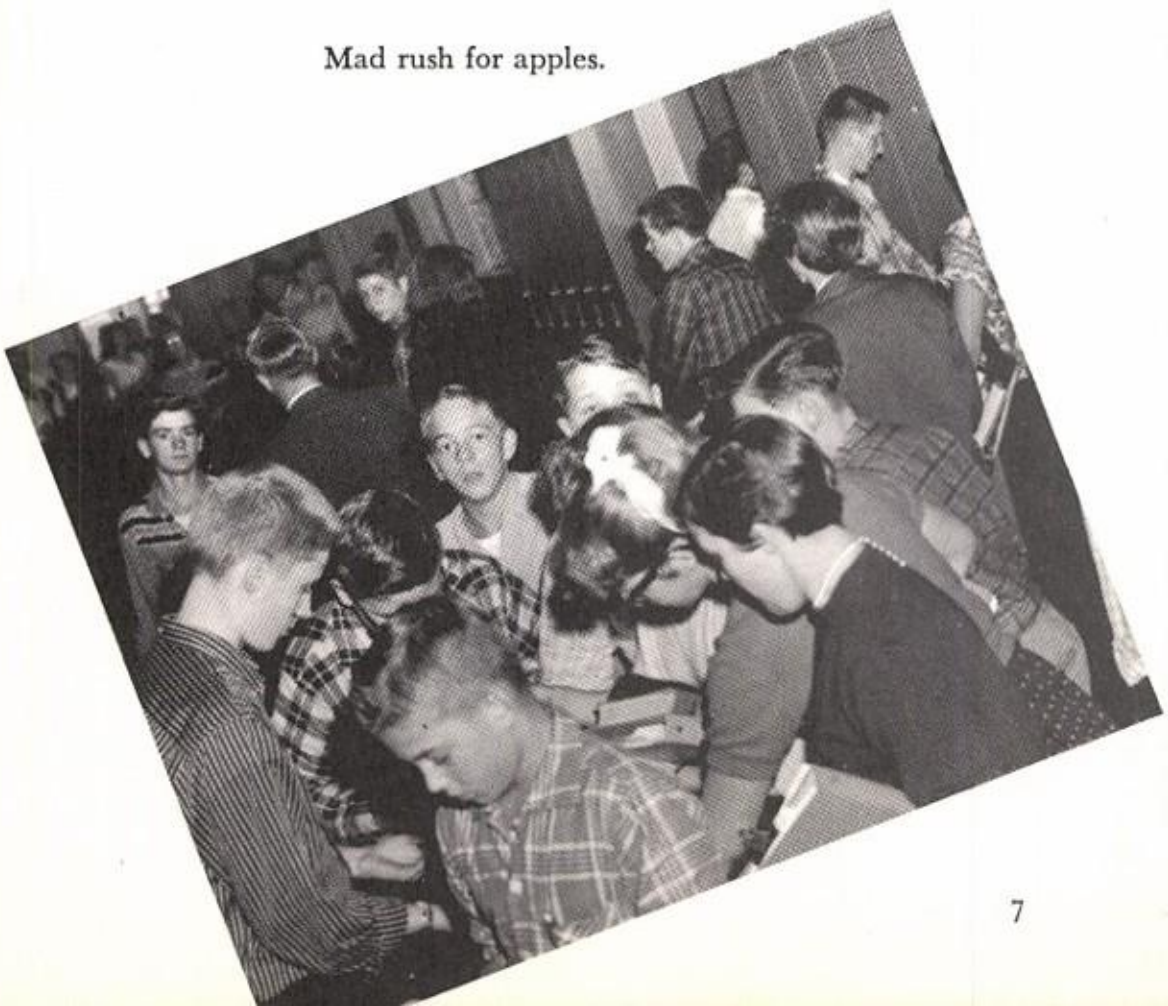
Discovering reasons behind violations of school rules is the purpose of Ethics, who work to prevent the ocurrence of misdemeanors with the hope that eventually an Ethics Committee won't be needed.

Drewianka, Musty, President Jonson, Ottoson, Nelson, Mock.

Ethics Committee hearing a case.

Polio tree holds student interest.

Mad rush for apples.



Jr. Student Council

President MacLeod consults fellow executives, Akins, Munson, Marshall.

Achieving status as future leaders in senior high, the Jr. Student Council operated successfully following the Senior Council's plans on a smaller basis. Organizing an award day program and control of bicycle traffic were two of their main projects.

Seniors

Seniors Achieve Mark

Unmarked, the years lay open before us . . . a fresh new paper waiting for its first unerasable stroke of the pen. Time bade us, "Make your mark" . . . and with sharpened pointed pencils we began. The lead, being new and unused, faltered at first in many turns and crosses. Scribbles and scratches were seen, overlooked, and filed for future reference. The guide-lines of morals were carefully kept. As the years progressed, the copy of the class of '58 was written upon the records of clubs, committees, report cards, and dramatic and athletic programs. Worn now to a nub was the eraser in the attempt to eliminate the mistakes made by those who hard-pressed the pencil. The lead broke off unevenly, and the sharpening of resolutions became apparent. Now the pencil has shortened and the tooth marks of the thinkers have reached into the lead which has met its termination. The class of '58 has fixed its final period here. The following sequel will be our future destiny.

Homecoming

Although saddened by the loss of their Homecoming game to Austin, school spirit was neither dimmed nor dampened. For behind that hard-played game were events that excited seventh-graders and misty-eyed seniors would not forget. Applause and cheers rang through the auditorium as smiling Barbara Gard was crowned the 1957 Homecoming Queen with Mary Pat Gosse and Mary Lou Peterson her attendants.

Festivities

Following vigorous yells led by the cheerleaders, the crowd gathered outside on the school playground for a pep rally.

The following day dawned bright and shining as students toiled to produce a colorful parade with ordinary hayracks and cardboard boxes.

With a loss of 14 to 7 behind them, students proceeded to dance to Heck's orchestra in the midst of an autumn leaves theme.

Feather Frolic

A colorful crowd crammed into the auditorium and old gymnasium of Central for the annual midwinter Feather Frolic. The program included individual acts and the senior girls' chorus line. Featured in the program was a skit by thirty members of the speech class. To end the evening, dancing was held in the old gymnasium to the music of the Legionaires' orchestra. All arrangements were made by the journalism department and Scarlet Feather staff for the benefit of the yearbook budget.

The Whiteheaded Boy

Full of "Blarney" was the theme of the All Class play, "The Whiteheaded Boy," an Irish comedy that constantly kept the audience guessing as to what hilarious incident would occur next. The spoiling of the youngest son and the merry-making involved in unspoiling him among the members of the Gehagen family entertained young and old as a rousing family comedy.

A colorful fairytale, "Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater," produced and directed entirely by Thespians, proved delightful and charming. Centering around the search of a little boy for a playmate who will share in the activities his family has no time to indulge, and enlivened by dance scenes, a doddering grandmother, and typical boyhood tricks, the play was termed successful in all respects.

Papa Is All

A hardened, conservative father played against a gentle, understanding mother, a hardworking son, and a sweet daughter in love created a contrast that had the audience hating and sympathizing simultaneously. "Papa Is All", presented by the Jr. Class, proved that one cannot oppose progress with cruel methods when love and understanding prevail.

The fans yelled go! go! go! and the team went! went! went! All season the Wingers drove in points to win the Big Nine Championship. Not only Big Nine teams fell under Red Wing's fine performances, but teams such as Minneapolis Roosevelt, Anoka and West St. Paul were also overpowered. For the third consecutive year the team won the Big Nine trophy.

The Wingers were only defeated once during the regular season on De LaSalle's court. With some close games to add excitement, the team wound up regular play with a sense of accomplishment and satisfied fans.

Tournament time brought a stepped up pace but the Wingers lost to West St. Paul in their second game of district competition.

The senior players, Malnar, steady and dependable, Lane Fridell and Juers, taking care of the guard posts, Hayes, sparking the offense, and Gary Fridell and Freier who backed up the team, plus the juniors, left a team we can all be proud of.

"B" Squad Basketball

Coach Myron Smith's "B" Squad basketball team turned in a respectable season's record, winning 11 games and losing 7. Five defeats came at the hands of conference foes Owatonna, Mankato, Austin, Winona and Northfield. Non-conference victories were won by Moundsview and De LaSalle.

Based on the relatively fine playing of a number of members of the junior varsity, next year's "A" Squad, as well as many to come, should contain five personnel to continue Red Wing's excellent basketball record.

Choir

Preparing for the earliest concert ever given at Central, Choir began their year by blending their voices together at the SEMEA convention held in Red Wing, Oct. 18th. It was followed later by a solemn fall concert filled with a mixture of Bach, Mathews, and Christensen. Complete with angels and shepherds, the Christmas Concert was heralded along with Palm Sunday Concert ending with a secular spring presentation.

Band

Earning money for the bi-annual band trip was the main project of the band for '58. The Winter Band Concert proved profitable, featuring a variety of instrumentals and intricate compositions. Providing a musical note for basketball games and presenting a novel half time marching parade for football games were only a few achievements of our band.
